Robert ‘Duke’ Bradley Jr., executive director of Chelsea Community Television, was among the first and only executive directors of the station.

Obligated only to conduct governmental meetings, Mr. Bradley, ‘Duke’ or ‘Dukie’ as he was affectionately called, made it a point to extend the station’s coverage to social, educational, and news events throughout the city. He encouraged residents to produce shows and personally appeared at every new night that showed up, even if there were so much.

Duke was welcomed everywhere in the city and the governor's office was always warm and sincere from people who wanted to thank him for the events at such as Chamber of Commerce dinners and CMS sports contests.

Duke was a larger-than-life personality in Chelsea, said Councilor-at-Large Leo Robinson. “When he was in the room, people wanted to interact with him and he was so cordial and kind to all. He was a great storyteller and had a tremendous sense of humor. We have lost an all-time great. He will be missed.”

Duke Bradley would often tell the story of how as a young man he was called upon to go on the street and cut down the lights on the Sabbath for the Orthodox Jewish congregation at the Wedding Street Synagogue. The Jewish community never forgot his kindness and he lived until he died as a person of all ethnicities.

Roy Avellaneda, councilor-at-large and local business owner, said, “I was saddened when Mr. Bradley said he decided to retire. He was a great person and a friend to me.”

Ricky Velez had the honor of working at the local cable TV stations for two decades. “I was always proud to see him and proud to be a part of the Chelsea community.”

Duke was an amazing man, always upbeat, always making me feel good,” said Velez. “He was a great man and a friend to all. He was one of the best bosses I ever had.”

A proud and devoted family man

Duke was devoted to his family and especially proud of his grandchildren, who brought fame and acclaim to his name.

Enhanced Google Maps, Lime Integration sets sights on improving City commutes

Google Maps will begin displaying available Lime scooters and helmets around cities around the world. On August 1, the City of Chelsea will beable to see if a Lime scooter is available and allow Chelsea residents to walk to the vehicle, a feature that could shave time and their journey time and ETA in the Goo gle Maps app. iOS availability for profit will launch in late August.

In the Metro-Boston area, Lime scooter availability will be available on half mile radius in on busy streets and over 60,000 rides on its scooter program. Lime bikes are available in Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Quincy, Watertown, and Waltham. Lime scooters are available in Brookline.

"This integration will help unlock an even easier way to explore their cities and reduce commute times," said Scott Muller, Director of Northeast

Roberto Jiménez Rivera announces run for Chelsea School Committee at-Large

Chelsea’s vibrant and welcoming community is the rea- son my wife and I decided to buy our home here. We hope to have children and can’t wait to send them to Chelsea Public Schools. I recognize the incredible potential of our community, and beyond: for that reason, I am announcing my candidacy for Chelsea Committee At-Large. As of this week, my experience has been certified and I am officially on the ballot for the 2019 municipal election. I am excited to continue meet- ing Chelsea residents as I get ready to become an advocate for our students!

OUR GLORIOUS SUMMER DAYS

When we think of the “dog days of summer,” what comes to mind are the long and sultry days of early to mid-August, when the heat and humidity combine to make for a sore that can make even the most summer-loving among us long for the door and cooler climes of the impending fall season.

They were immortalized in Nat King Cole’s song from the early 1960s about “those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer.”

The dog days are as much a state of mind as they are a physical fact, a time when all of us, young and old, grab some Rollie to regenerate our minds and bodies before resuming the grind of our daily routines post-Labor Day.

Everyone, it seems, is on vacation. European cities are famously empty in August, as are our East Coast cities from Boston to Washington.

However, this past weekend brought us a large amount of relief from the usual torpor that we associate with this dog days. It was the kind of weather that we’d like to put into a bottle and open up in January: Sunny and warm, but not too hot, with just enough humidity to give that summer-like feel without being oppressive.

It was perfect for anything and everything outdoors, whether you were in the city, on the beach, in the mountains, or on your boat (especially a sailboat thanks to the strong breeze). You just wanted to inhale it and mull into it, and wish that the day would last forever.

Everyone, it seemed, was happy at the end of the day. It is true that our moods are determined by the amount of negative ions in the air, then this weekend’s atmosphere was fully charged with them.

Our good luck is continuing because the weatherman is promising us another run of similar weather for later this week.

JIMMY BIRMINGHAM: ONE OF THE NICEST PEOPLE YOU MIGHT MEET

Dear Editor: Jimmy Birmingham had been a Chelsea firefighter for only three months when he became chief of the Chelsea Fire Department.

Jimmy was one of the nicest people you could meet and could be a "fun person" to be around. I wish I had a hundred Jimmy Birmingham in the department when I was chief.

Jimmy performed both fire suppression and first-aid duties, making him a well-rounded firefighter and officer. If that wasn’t enough, he served the Chelsea Firefighters Local 937 as vice president and furthermore was a member of the Firefighters’ Critical Incident Stress Management Team (CISM).

I find it somewhat ironic that Jimmy was born on Sept. 11 (1960). I say this because Jimmy was born on Sept. 11 (1960). I say this because I was a “fun person” to be around. I wish I had a hundred

El Departamento de Transporte de Massachusetts (MassDOT) se complace en anunciar un nuevo Programa voluntario de notificaciones anticipadas de prueba que ofrece orientación sobre los cierres del Puente de la Calle Chelsea para uso vial.

La próxima asamblea pública será una oportunidad para que los miembros del público emitan sus comentarios con respecto al Sistema de notificaciones anticipadas del Puente de la Calle Chelsea y estén enterados de cómo la retroalimentación ayudará a informar sobre las decisiones normativas futuras de la Guardia Costera Estadounidense.

Si desea recibir notificaciones anticipadas, síganos @logantochelsea en Twitter. Varios letreros con mensajes en el puente también ofrecen notificaciones anticipadas a los conductores. Si desea recibir notificaciones de MBTA sobre demoras en el servicio, suscríbase a T-Alerts en mbta.com sobre la Línea plateada 3 y la Ruta 112.

Use www.tiny.cc/ChelseaLift para brindar su retroalimentación o escanee el siguiente código QR.

¡Gracias!
